S U M M E R F E L L O W S H I P

We are looking for ambitious, hard-working, and innovative candidates who are looking for hands-on experience in the practice of architecture and research.

During your Ballinger Summer Fellowship, you will become part of our innovative design practice.

You will be immersed in our professional culture and gain real-world experience while participating in a research initiative.

Your Fellowship will culminate in a presentation of your research at an office-wide meeting in August.

Your research project will be determined prior to your start date. It will focus on trends, metrics or emerging strategies in one of the following targeted areas:

Sustainability
Healthcare & Wellness
Campus & Academic Workplace
Visualization & Materials

Our Work

While our work is national, our expertise is centered in Philadelphia. We are deeply committed to this vibrant city filled with culture, history and modern day commerce.

Our City

When you enter Ballinger's studio, you experience a culture that blends innovative design sensibility, a 125+ year history in architecture, engineering, and interiors, and an entrepreneurial philosophy with environmental stewardship at its foundation.

Our Structure

We are organized in multi-disciplinary teams, and during your Fellowship you will interact within project teams and have the opportunity to participate in team meetings, design charrettes, and other collaborative activities.

Ballinger is a firm where you are encouraged to make your mark – through individual inventiveness and collaborative contributions.
